Wayne County Community College District's Michigan Institute for Public Safety Education (MIPSE) Provides Training for Detroit Special Response Team

The District's Michigan Institute for Public Safety Education (MIPSE), in partnership with the Detroit Police Department, provides facility access for the (SRT) to perform tactical law enforcement training. Training includes: use of training tower and mobile home for building entries and scenarios on the driving pad to conduct compliant and high-risk felony vehicle stops and stress the importance of effective communications. The training tower is also used to repel out of windows and the roof. Participants learn the proper way to prepare, descend and the importance of effective communication.
