DIVISION NEWS

INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

USE OF TECHNOLOGY FOR CAMPUS SAFETY

The University of Tennessee Police Department has launched a new initiative to enhance safety by keeping the campus and surrounding community more informed. The efforts include an anonymous tip service. The program is an internet-based tool that allows the public to text message an anonymous tip to police and the police to respond, creating a two-way anonymous conversation. Tip 411's technology removes all identifying information before police personnel read the message so there is no way to identify the sender.

BACK TO SCHOOL SAFETY TIPS FOR GRADE SCHOOL AND COLLEGE STUDENTS

It's that time of year again – and here are a few safety tips for you and your family as you prepare for the new school year.

BACKPACK SAFETY

- Choose a backpack with wide padded shoulder straps and padded back.
- Pack light and organize to place heavier items close to the center of the backpack.
- Instruct children to always use both shoulder straps; slinging a backpack over one shoulder can cause muscle strain.

TRAVELING TO AND FROM SCHOOL

- Make sure that all passengers wear seat belts and that you have age appropriate car and booster seats.
- Educate your child about the dangers of moving around on buses and to keep their heads and arms inside bus windows at all times.
- Never let your young child walk alone to school; find a partner.
- Children who ride bicycles to school should always wear a helmet and bright colored clothing.
- Make sure they know and respect traffic rules.

PLAYGROUNDS

- Check your child's school playground for hazards such as rusted or broken equipment and dangerous surfaces. Report any deficiencies to the school immediately.
- Check for drawstrings on jacket hoods of younger children and remove them; these can cause strangulation injuries.

STRANGER DANGER

- Talk to your children again about the dangers of talking to strangers and to be alert to and report suspicious people that may be around school grounds.

BULLYING AND VIOLENT BEHAVIOR

- Help your child to respond to bullying by teaching them not to be afraid, report this behavior and to avoid being drawn in by simply walking away. They should report all verbal threats to a teacher and parent. Encourage your child to talk to you openly about this type of behavior.

Mary Ellen Stempfle University Center

- Dr. Sandra Robinson and Nichole Pardo attended the Connecting the Pointes quarterly meeting and provided an update on the District.
- Dr. Robinson and Dr. Randall Miller met with Western Michigan University representatives, Craig Boyd and Michael Mathis, to solidify preparation for the kickoff of the Bachelor of General Studies Degree this fall semester at the Mary Ellen Stempfle University Center.
- The Mary Ellen Stempfle University Center hosted an orientation session for all students interested in the Bachelor of Social Work degree offered by the University of Detroit Mercy.”
