High School Career Training

The 21st Century Workforce Career Technical Program is a partnership between Detroit Public Schools (DPS) and WCCCD to provide career training and college credit to students while they complete their high school diploma. Currently, the program is operating at four DPS career centers: Randolph, Ben Carson, Golightly/Davis Aerospace Technical and Breithaupt. Pictured are students learning how to prepare healthy meals with special guest Earl Cureton, formally of the Detroit Pistons.

Western International High School Dual Enrollment Students

Students from Western International High School were at the Downtown Campus completing their Compass Test in preparation for enrollment into the District's Dual Enrollment Program. After completing the test, students were given a tour of the campus and provided an overview of college expectations.

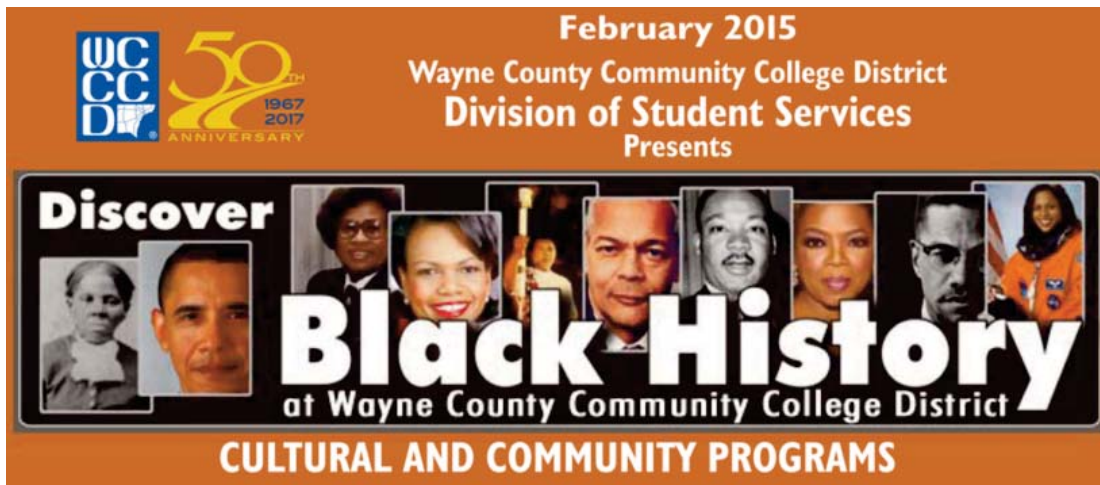

Early Alert System

Practices have been used by the Division of Student Services to identify students who may be struggling. The system will intervene and direct these students to the appropriate available academic support services. Students are contacted and referrals or academic advising provided.

Academic advising is another essential support for the success of community college students, many of whom are first generation students attending college in their family and may need guidance in adapting to the academic demands of higher education. All new and transfer students must see an advisor. All other students are strongly encouraged.

The Division of Student Services Presents

The Eastern Campus hosted “Discovery of the Malcolm X Lost Chapters” presented by Attorney Gregory Reed. Mr. Reed is an author, founder, and major cultural preservationist of The Keeper of the Word Foundation Expedition. He rescued The Lost Chapters and Malcolm X’s unrevealed words, views and thoughts that are now being disclosed 46 years after his death.

Students at the Downriver Campus enjoyed a bus visit tour of three historic museums. First stop was Detroit’s own Motown Museum; next, a walk through the streets of Old Detroit at the Detroit Historic Museum. The final destination was the Charles H. Wright Museum of African American History.

The Northwest Campus hosted musical artist Amp Fidler for Black History Month with an exciting performance. Fidler studied music at Oakland and Wayne State universities, and with jazz great Harold McKinney. After learning piano as a child, Mr. Fidler studied music at Oakland and Wayne State universities, with the jazz great Harold McKinney. His music takes stylistic cues from all these encounters, but emerges as earthy, supremely relaxed, and rooted in the funk and soul that he feels most connected to.

Mike Hansen, President of the Michigan Community College Association and Michigan State Senator and Sub-Committee Chair for Community Colleges Darwin Booher presented on the task community colleges have before them in 2015 to meet employer demand for a skilled modern workforce for the State of Michigan.

2015 Michigan Governor's Economic and Education Summits: The two summits are being combined into a single two-day event, March 2-3, 2015 at the Marriott Detroit at the Renaissance Center. Career Technical Education is the focus for this event.

President Barack Obama Releases FY 2016 Budget Recommendations: The proposed budget would maintain funding or provide small increases for many programs of interest to community colleges, but it would create a few new ones, such as a $60.3 billion investment in the America's College Promise (better known as the president's free community college proposal) and a $200 million job training program.

Senate Bill No. 36-38: Three bills have been re-introduced that would set parameters for college courses offered in a high school setting (concurrent enrollment). The bills would also set restrictions regarding what factors a college or university should take into account in setting tuition for such courses, and state legislative intent that tuition should not exceed the in-district tuition rate.

Office of Accountability and Transparency

The Continuous Quality Improvement Audit Center collects, reviews and conducts monthly reconciliations and on-going audits of all District data. A systematic approach is used to procure data from multiple sources, allowing for collective knowledge through accountability and transparency.

Progress Report - Distribution Center

The enhancement of the District's Distribution Center continues to make great progress. A new entrance to restrict access securing all deliveries and inventory is being constructed. Ceiling tiles are being installed, painting is nearly complete and review of electrical and technological advancements are being considered. Processes continue to be reviewed to ensure all deliveries and inventory are accounted for. The District Police Authority will maintain an office space in the Distribution Center supporting daily operations. Mail services remain open for operations, however duplicating services are no longer available. The pictures below show current progress.

Growing the Community through Continuing Education

Continuing education serves the broadest function of a comprehensive community college, it embraces numerous activities through non-traditional programs. As noted in The American Community College “the community college is uniquely qualified to become the nexus of a community learning system, relating organizations with education functions into a complex sufficient to respond to the population’s learning needs.”

The School of Continuing Education and Workforce Development continues to research best practices and explore the latest trends in an effort to stay innovative. This helps drive decisions to offer new programs and courses that the community has an interest and meet their needs. Some of the new Kid’s College 2015 summer programs are listed below:

- Young Inventor’s Camp
- Adventures with Master Artists
- Graphic Design Camp
- iPhone Usage: Safety Camp
- Video Camp

A Note of Thanks!

"I would like to thank you and your staff for the help and support that was given to the EMT Program with the Committee on Accreditation of Emergency Medical Services Programs (COAEMPS) accreditation . The District, MISPE and the EMT Program should stand proud knowing we are the first community college in the State of Michigan to receive COAEMPS accreditation in Wayne County. Thanks and congratulations!" ~Anthony Arminiak and Andy Steeby from the Downriver Campus
