Office of Accountability and Transparency

Process Alignment and Review

The Office of Accountability and Transparency, the Division of Administration and Finance and Tony Arminiak met to discuss process alignment of instructional and campus operational supply orders. The meeting centered on the operational alignment to meet program and financial efficiencies. A 360 degree review of the District's instructional supplies requisition process was discussed as follows:

- Completion and Approval of Requisition
- Critical Deadlines
- Supply Distribution
- Timely Reconciliation
- Periodic Audits
- Semester Closeout
- Assessment of Inventory

Division of Human Resources

HR and Finance Internal Processes

In order to maintain checks and balances and strong internal control, the Divisions of Administration and Finance and Human Resources are conducting a comprehensive faculty payroll audit. The audit is an effective assessment tool which enables us to verify and update payroll records. Conducting periodic audits at least once per year helps maintain compliance and strengthen the financial controls.

CELEBRATE DIVERSITY

INTERCULTURAL CONVERSATIONS

This week's session focused on peace which is important in the development of intercultural competency.

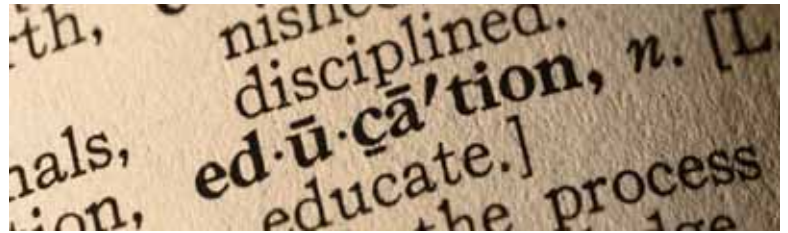

Jeff Miller discussed how misunderstandings can begin with simple words and can even end with dire results.

Professional Development

The Emotional Intelligence in the Community College Environment workshop explored research-based information and key strategies that helped participants to observe, discover, deploy and manage their emotions with a sense of intelligence.

Career Programs

The Completion Agenda strives to help students become aware of the many career opportunities that they can pursue at WCCCD. In support of this goal, WCCCD is proud to celebrate Manufacturing Day 2016 on October 7, 2016.

Stay tuned next week for pictures from the Eastern and Western campuses as we celebrate National Manufacturing Day.

Distance Learning

Distance Learning is currently working on faculty evaluations for the Fall semester. A list of faculty were provided by the Institute of Effectiveness and each faculty member will be evaluated through classroom observations, faculty input, student survey of instruction summaries, and a final evaluation form.

Learning Resource Center

The Learning Resource Centers (LRC) have had an increase in database usage for the month of September as the middle of the semester approaches and many assignments, essays, and research papers are due. These databases can be accessed through the LRC's website, as well as remotely from home with a WCCCD identification card.

Health Sciences

Simulation Laboratory

The NUR114 obstetric nursing students participated in a scenario that mimicked a real post-partum hemorrhage crisis that occurs in the labor and delivery room of a hospital setting.

This week the Health Science Interdisciplinary Simulation Laboratory (HSISL) received their two C.O.W.'s (Computers on Wheels). These systems have the capability for the students to scan the barcodes on the patients and medicine to increase their simulation and clinical practices.

Nursing students in NUR 114 obstetric nursing were also practicing setting up an Alaris Fusion System pump. They programmed it with the correct flow and amount.

Dentrix Training Continuation

Dental hygiene students started their Dentrix Training. A representative from Dentrix visited the dental clinic to assist students. Students were able to do restorative charting and periodontal charting with the assistance of this dental software. Dentrix is used in many dental offices.

HESI Prep Course

The Health Science Center hosted the Health Education System, Inc. (HESI) prep course. This course was designed to assist students in preparing an application for the Nursing Program.

Information Technology Institute

Plan of Work Boot Camps

The Information Technology Institute conducted Plan of Work Boot Camps for CIS/IT students to help them manage completion of their programs. Staff guided students through Degree Works, which is WCCCD's Graduation Progress System (GPS) that tracks program completion. The system shows students what classes they need to take and allows them to explore "what if" scenarios in the event they decide to change programs.

Wayne RESA also held their Action Guide for School Leaders workshop and their Beginning Bus Drivers Training workshop.

American Association of Retired Persons

Thank You Letter from AARP

"Thank you Gil Solis for the very informative presentation on safety responses to heart attacks and strokes. It was very down to earth and easy to understand. The statistics on women and heart attacks was surprising. We hear so much more about women and cancer. Hopefully, we will never be faced with a life-threatening event; however, now we should be a little better prepared. Thanks again and keep up the good work."
