What's Trending in IE: Non-Traditional Female STEM Completions

According to the National Science Foundation, women remain underrepresented in the science and engineering workforce, although to a lesser degree than in the past. Women represent 29% of the science and engineering workforce. In 2016, WCCCD experienced an increase in the percent of female students obtaining awards in computer information system, engineering, and mechanics and repair technologies.

Below you will find some examples of where females who major in STEM are concentrated -

WCCCD female students earning awards in the selected STEM fields.

Program Area	% Male		% Female
	2015	2016	2015	2016
Computer and Information Sciences CIS	78%	75%	22%	25%
Engineering Technologies (EE, Light Rail, WET)	80%	78%	20%	22%
Mechanic and Repair Technologies (Auto, HVAC)	94%	89%	6%	11%

UNITED STATES POSTAL INSPECTION SERVICE

A/INSPECTOR IN CHARGE – DETROIT DIVISION

September 27, 2016

Anthony T. Arminiak
Wayne County Community College District
Downriver Campus President/Provost MIPSE
21000 Northline Road
Taylor, MI 48180

IN THE MAIL...

Dear Mr. Arminiak:

I wish to extend my sincere appreciation for the effort and support provided to the U.S. Postal Inspection Service by Associate Dean Andy Steeby and the staff of the Michigan Institute for Public Safety Education (MIPSE). Mr. Steeby and his staff's flexibility and cooperation allowed the Inspection Service to conduct high-impact training for our inspectors and officers, and it is to be commended.

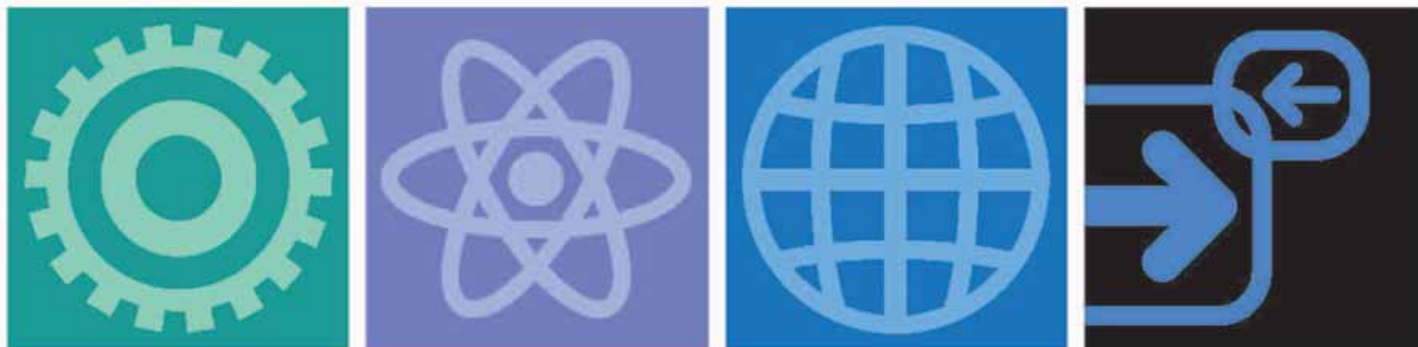

During August and September 2016, the Inspection Service conducted Officer Survival training for 38 Postal Inspectors and Postal Police Officers at the MIPSE complex. The threat management training consisted of warrant entry, building clearing, airline tactics, felony vehicle stops, and other scenario-based tactical exercises. The quality of the facilities enabled us to provide a variety of valuable training to our workforce that will better prepare them for situations they may encounter on the streets.

Please convey my gratitude to Mr. Steeby and the entire MIPSE staff for the assistance they provided. This partnership will enable our Inspectors and Postal Police Officers to work safer on the streets and ultimately serve the Postal Service, its customers, and the citizens of Wayne County in the most professional manner possible.

Sincerely,

Patricia Armstrong
