The Voice of Faculty Excellence

As the Vice Chancellor of the Division of Educational Affairs and my enduring commitment to the faculty and their learning environments, it is my pleasure to present to you “The Voice of Faculty Excellence.” ~ Dr. David Beaumont

Professor Deolis Allen, an educator of 30 years, has been teaching business courses at WCCCD since 2006. “Teaching as a full-time instructor here at WCCCD is a dream job for me.” His favorite course to teach is BUS 150 Introduction to Business, because for many students this is their first collegiate course and he can positively impact their academic journey from early on.

As someone who was positively impacted early on in his education, Mr. Allen was inspired to become a college professor. He was part of the A Better Chance (ABC) program, where gifted disadvantaged students were identified and offered a better chance. As a 14-year-old ninth-grade student from Hutchins Junior High School in Detroit, he was identified as gifted and sent to Phillips Academy in Andover, Massachusetts. By the time he enrolled in the University of Michigan, he had placed out of freshman English and had an advanced placement in Spanish and Math.

Deolis Allen

Continuing to demonstrate his commitment to community and teaching, Mr. Allen was named Instructor of the Year at two different schools in the same year— Lewis College of Business and Detroit College of Business, now Davenport University, in 1997. His education background consists of earning his Bachelor of Arts in Communication from the University of Michigan and a Master of Business Administration from the University of Michigan Ross Graduate School of Business Administration. He also completed Education Specialist coursework at Wayne State University.

Outside of the classroom, he enjoys the art of movies and music. He believes that movies that are made as art evoke strong emotions from the viewers, with the same being true of music. “If you close your eyes and listen to Miles Davis’s “In a Silent Way” you are taken far away to somewhere else.”

Faculty Hotline

Communication in a Multi-Campus District

The Faculty Hotline is a critical tool for communication, inquiries, suggestions and as a conduit for the resolution of concerns. Top reasons faculty utilize the hotline include providing information related to curriculum, scheduling and human resource related questions. The Faculty Hotline is one of the many avenues for faculty to communicate within a multi-campus District. Call us at (844) 245-0358.

PROE Survey

The Program Review in Occupational Education, or PROE survey is a part of the Michigan Community College Occupational Education Evaluation System and helps each college evaluate its career programs. Faculty, students, advisory board members, and community partners can all play a part in the program evaluation process. Surveys were sent out to faculty to complete. The deadline date is May 6, 2022.
